

Academic Affairs

Strategic Plan

2009-2012

Approved by Academic Affairs Council on November 17, 2010

Status Report September 1, 2011

PROVOST'S INTRODUCTION to the September 1, 2011 Status Report

During the first two years of this strategic plan, Academic Affairs made good progress on key Goals, Objectives, Activities, and Indicators. This document reports the current status of the original plan. In the Status column, a three-color coding system notes the current state of the various Objectives, Activities, or Indicators:

- Green highlighting identifies items that are Complete
- Yellow highlight items have been Delayed, but the original plan remains in effect, and
- Red highlighted items have been Impacted by factors that may have resulted in a decision to dramatically modify or drop the item.

Since we just completed year two of a three-year plan, many activities are In Progress and some are still Planned. These items are not highlighted with a color. Also, since we still have time to complete tasks, there are no red-highlighted Impacted items.

As with any planning process, modifications based upon new or changing conditions should be expected. As noted in the introduction to the original plan, good planning is an iterative process that requires continuous assessment of current conditions, projections of possible future developments, and adjustments to proposed goals, objectives, activities, and measures of success.

I would like to thank everyone who has contributed to our successes to date, and encourage everyone to continue to working together as we follow this roadmap along our journey to academic excellence. Our goal is for Cal U to become recognized as the best comprehensive public university in America, and that vision can only be achieved if we all contribute to positive outcomes on a daily basis.

Geraldine M. Jones
Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs
