

B.A. in Sociology: Social Deviance to M.Ed. in School Counseling

Program Description

The Social Deviance concentration of Cal U's Bachelor of Arts in Sociology degree integrates concepts from various academic disciplines to examine and tackle the real-world issues of social deviance. Qualified undergraduate students in the social deviance concentration may be eligible to participate in the accelerated B.A.-to-M.Ed. program, which enables them to take graduate courses that apply to both their B.A. in Sociology: Social Deviance and (thereafter) a master's degree in school counseling.

The Master of Education in School Counseling fulfills the degree requirements for the National Counselor Examination (NCE), which is needed to become a National Certified Counselor and Licensed Professional Counselor.

Program Notes: 42 credits (or 14 courses) of upper-division (any course numbered 200 or above with at least one pre-requisite course) courses are required. Undergraduate students must be at least of junior standing and have a minimum GPA of 3.0 to apply for the graduate program. They must have earned 90 credits to register for a graduate-level course. Students interested in participating in the accelerated program must see their adviser. Students may also apply for any of the 9-credit CED certificate programs.

Additional Requirements

Undergraduate students in the accelerated program may register for no more than 6 graduate credits in any one term, and in terms when a graduate course is registered, the student may not register for more than 18 total credits.

It is the student's responsibility to apply and meet the qualifications of the graduate program portion of the accelerated program. Failure to follow through with enrollment in the accelerated graduate program will result in additional undergraduate credits to complete the bachelor's degree, as outlined in the Undergraduate Credit for Graduate Courses policy.
